

TWO CLEVELAND RACKETEERS SLAIN

WISCONSIN CLAIMS CRADLE OF LIBERTY THROUGH NEW LAWS

Ancient Blue Laws Are Latest Target Of Legislators

MADISON, Wis., April 24.—The state of Wisconsin apparently is going "liberal."

Legislation pending or enacted in the present session of the Badger general assembly gives the state strong claim of being the "cradle of personal liberty."

It also indicates that citizens of the state want their whisky unpunished, their movies uncensored, their cigarettes untaxed, private detectives licensed and regulated and the eighteenth amendment abolished.

As Senator Thomas W. Duncan, Socialist and liberal leader, puts it, Wisconsin has discovered that the corpse of John Barleycorn is a live one, and after quickstepping to his funeral has reversed and is marching back.

After moving to repeal the state prohibition law and demanding of congress a constitutional convention to repeal the eighteenth amendment, the legislature now comes out for repeal of the ancient blue laws against Sunday amusement.

The law provides that being present at any dancing or public diversion, show or entertainment, or taking part in any sport game or play on the first day of the week shall be punished by a fine not exceeding ten dollars.

"Enforce it and Wisconsin could pay the national debt," says Assemblyman John Grobenschmidt, 50-year-old Milwaukeean.

Grobenschmidt is also the author of the dry law repeal bill which has passed the assembly and appears to be assured of similar action in the senate.

Senator Howard Teasdale, veteran reform leader, startled the senate with the introduction of a bill to repeal the state "dry" law, abolish state prohibition enforcement department and leave control of the liquor problem to federal forces and county option.

Although Teasdale has proposed a bill to ban sale of malt syrups, Wisconsin citizens still can perform chemical experiments in the cellars with malt as far as the state is concerned.

Senator Bernard Gettleman blames "war hysteria" for prohibition and the senate has passed his resolution asking congress to call a constitutional convention to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

"Wisconsin legislators went from a saloon to the capitol, ratified that amendment, and then went back to their drinking and laughing about it," Gettleman recalled.

RUM RUNNER KILLED WHEN POLICE SHOOT FROM PURSUING CAR

Liquor-Loaded Car
Throws Up Smoke
Screen

WASHINGTON, April 24.—A smoke screen shooting rum runners was fired today, one of the two occupants being killed instantly by the bullets.

The dead man was identified as Ottmer Herman Fleming, 21. His companion, Jack Stevens, jumped from the automobile and fled but was captured after a chase.

In the rear seat was found fifteen cases of liquor. Stevens was charged with transportation of liquor, possession, and use of a smoke screen.

Twice a patrolman narrowly escaped death while on a motorcycle chasing a fleeing rum runner when the motorcycle left the road after smoke was shot into the pursuer's face.

Police were given orders to stop the practice. Patrolman O. Rouse and E. R. Campbell took up pursuit of the fast moving car today and when it failed to stop fired at the rear tires. Some of the bullets went high, killing Fleming.

HOMES OF CLEVELAND POLICEMEN BOMBED; SUSPECTS ARRESTED

WANTED PUBLICITY

A desire for cheap publicity prompted Harold Harshman, 15, shown here, of Youngstown, O., to concoct a story of having abducted Beatrice Rosenbaum, 10, a year ago and then abandoned her to die "because he disliked her brother."

Arrested on suspicion of passing bad checks, young Harshman told the police his dramatic story, admitting shortly afterwards it was invented.

DAVEY FLAYS STATE ADMINISTRATION IN JACKSON DAY TALK

Claims Cincinnati Political Gang Rules Ohio

NEWARK, O., April 24.—Former Congressman Martin L. Davey, Kent, unsuccessful Democratic nominee for governor in 1928, assailed the state administration in an address at a Jackson Day banquet here last night.

Charging that "the corrupt political gang of Cincinnati" is in control of the government, Davey predicted the issue in the next state campaign "will be that of saving Ohio from this gang."

Davey did not mention Governor Cooper by name and said he spoke as a private citizen.

"During the campaign last year I charged over and over again that the corrupt political gang of Cincinnati would take control of the state government in the event that my opponent were elected," he said.

"That is precisely what has happened," Davey said, "and the scenes now the boss of the government of Ohio."

"One of his chief lieutenants is the director of commerce. He is more than that—he is the controlling figure of the administration. It was he who sat in the halls of the legislature during the late session and gave orders to obedient and subservient lawmakers."

"The influence of this major representative of the Cincinnati gang penetrates through the whole business and structure of the state government, and it cannot fail to be a blighting influence because the Cincinnati gang is corrupt by nature, inheritance and choice."

"For a long period of years this gang of political corruptionists have cursed and blighted Cincinnati."

"Now their time has come to extend their evil and dangerous influence into and through the vitals of our state government. Will they fail to use this golden opportunity to corrupt and plunder the government of Ohio? If they fail to perform according to nature, then we can expect buzzards to come to be buzzards."

"One of the logical and inevitable issues of the next campaign in Ohio—and I do not speak as a candidate—will be to save Ohio from the corrupt Cincinnati gang. No government can be good government and be under the evil and blighting domination of political gangsters."

TRUSTIES SERVE AS VOLUNTEER FIREMEN

MANSFIELD, O., April 24.—Twenty-five reformatory trustees aided in saving the household goods of C. L. Pittinger when the Pittinger house caught fire from defective electric wires.

The trustees were working in a field when the fire was discovered. They were given permission to aid.

Officers Active In Vice Control Are Gang Targets

CLEVELAND, April 24.—Homes of two prominent members of the police department here were bombed early today but no one was injured.

The first bomb ripped off the front porch of a house formerly occupied by Police Sergeant Patrick Holland and an hour later another blast shattered windows in the home of Police Captain William McMaster.

McMaster's wife and children were home at the time and were panic stricken.

Fifteen minutes after the second explosion the entire police department was ordered out to comb the city for the perpetrators.

Two suspects, both of them known racketeers and bootleggers, were taken to police headquarters for questioning.

Less than two weeks ago a bomb was planted on the porch of a house in which Detective Sergeant John Mack formerly lived.

All three men have been active in the apprehension of liquor and vice law violators. Sergeant Holland is head of the squad that devotes most of its time to vice raiding.

All of the officers are known to the underworld as "hard."

The double bombing today convinced detectives that the underworld is out to "get" the officers.

SLAYER TRIES TO FAKE SUICIDE PACT

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., April 24.—The dying attempt of Allan Carey, 38, to mask as a suicide pact his death and that of his 17-year-old sweetheart, Ruth Davis, came to naught today when a coroner's investigation revealed that Carey murdered the girl and then committed suicide.

Carey eloped with Miss Davis in a rented automobile Sunday night after he had been dismissed from the Union Printers Home here, where he was a tuberculosis patient, for violating the rules. He had been forbidden by her parents to meet the girl, an employee of the home, because he had a wife and two children in Grand Rapids, Mich.

The couple drove to a secluded spot in the mountains where they remained overnight. Then Carey suffocated the girl and yesterday he returned, carrying her body in the car. He told police they both had taken poison because they were not free to marry. Then he died of self-administered poison and knife slashes on his wrists.

REBELS PREPARE TO REPULSE FEDERALS

NOGALES, Sonora, Mex., April 24.—Rebels prepared today to protect the state of Sonora, only remaining stronghold of the revolution, against three federal forces.

A bitter engagement was expected at Masiaca, Sonora, to the south, where rebels under General Fausto Topete were awaiting federal troops from Simola.

No activity has been reported in eastern Sonora since Monday, when General Marcel Caraveo reported that his troops had surprised the vanguard of the federal force under General Almazan at Pulpito Pass.

The federal garrison at Naco, remained the sore spot in Sonora. An airplane from Naco made another attack on Nogales Tuesday, but dropped only one bomb, which did no damage.

FALLEN ARCHES END RUNNER'S CAREER

COLLINSVILLE, Ill., April 24.—C. C. Pyle's plodding marathoners left for St. Louis today without Harry Rea of Long Beach, Cal., who developed fallen arches a few hours out from Vandalla yesterday.

John Salo, Passaic, N. J., won yesterday's race, tearing off the 58.8 miles from Vandalla here in eight hours, twelve minutes and fifty seconds. Paul Simpson, Burlington, N. C., followed Salo across the line six minutes later and Pete Gavuzzi, who retains his lapsed time lead arrived in third place.

Gavuzzi, with 157-02:57 holds a lead of nearly four hours over Salo in lapsed time. Salo covered the distance from New York in 160:49:30. Ed. Gardner, Seattle, Wash., negro, was in third place, followed by Gusto Umek, Italy and Sam Richman, New York.

CONVICT GRANDMOTHER ON SEX PAMPHLET

NEW YORK, April 24.—Mrs. Mary Ware Dennett, a gray-haired grandmother who more than a decade ago wrote for the information of her growing sons a pamphlet on "The Sex Side of Life," has been convicted of sending obscene matter through the mails.

The conviction, returned by a jury of middle-aged family men in Brooklyn, carried a possible penalty of five years' imprisonment or a $5,000 fine, or both.

It seems probable that the prosecution would not favor a prison term but would consider it a victory to prevent further distribution of Mrs. Dennett's treatise, which has been used widely in educational work of the Y. M. C. A., Union Theological seminary, churches and social organizations.

The sons in question, now 23 and 25, sat on each side of Mrs. Dennett, one of them reached over and pressed her hand as the jury foreman arose to report.

A number of representatives of organizations which had used Mrs. Dennett's pamphlet because they considered it a suitable presentation of sex facts for adolescents, were on hand to support the defendant. The specific charge against Mrs. Dennett was that the pamphlet was mailed to a woman in Grottoes, Va., a charge which the defendant readily admitted.

CRASH ENDS PLANS

Plans for a newspaper career and for her marriage in May are over for Miss Cecelia Kelly, 23, of Kansas City, Mo., one of the victims of the mid-air crash between a passenger ship and an army pursuit plane at San Diego, Cal., in which six men died.

Miss Kelly, a member of the staff of a Phoenix, Ariz., newspaper, was to wed a Denver newspaperman next month.

JUDGE HARDY TELLS STORY IN DEFENSE; DENIES ALL CHARGES

Admits Accepting Check
Marked By Word
"Legal"

SACRAMENTO, Calif., April 24.—Judge Carlos S. Hardy's own story of the $2,500 check he accepted from Mrs. Almee Semple McPherson and her mother, Mrs. Kennedy, was on record in his impeachment trial before the state senate today.

The state charges Judge Hardy accepted the $2,500 as a legal fee for advice given Mrs. McPherson during the investigation of her mysterious disappearance three years ago.

The accused jurist testifying in his own defense declared that he interested himself in the McPherson kidnapping case because members of Mrs. McPherson's Angelus Temple objected to the reflections cast upon the evangelist's character.

He admitted accepting from Mrs. Kennedy the $2,500 check with the word "legal" written across its face.

Judge Hardy said he had conferred with Wallace Moore, a newspaperman, who claimed to have identified Mrs. McPherson as the companion of Kenneth G. Ormiston, Angelus Temple radio operator, in an automobile at Carmel-by-the-sea during the evangelist's disappearance. He denied, however, that he attempted to intimidate the witness by warning him of perjury proceedings.

"Did you ever say to Robert Bridon, one of the grand jurors in the McPherson investigation at Los Angeles, 'you fellows lay off the Almee case?'" Judge Hardy asked.

"Of course not," the witness replied. "I never used those words to him or any one else, at any time or any place."

Judge Hardy denied that he ever arranged with Mrs. Lorraine Wieseman-Sellaff to produce a woman who would pose as Ormiston's companion at Carmel-by-the-sea and clear Mrs. McPherson's name of such charges.

BANKERS ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 24.—P. F. Carosella, president and Eugene Rudy, cashier of the Union Savings Bank, which was closed April 13 by E. H. Blair, state superintendent of banks, were under arrest here today and are being held under $7,500 bail each.

Carosella is charged with embezzlement of $5,000. Rudy is charged with making false statements to bank examiners regarding funds. The particular concern saving deposits, Prosecutor Roy C. Thomas said.

XENIA TO BE IN BATTLE AREA

Mimic Warfare In Air Centers In This Section May 15 To May 26.

WASHINGTON April 24.—A civil war will be fought this summer in the United States. A few queer statistics concerning the event give it away as but a mock affair, though war department plans indicate it will be none-the-less serious.

The opposing sides, Blue-land and Redland, open hostilities at midnight May 15 and end them May 26. Ground and air forces will be employed to hold a front stretching south from Toledo, direct to Knoxville, Tenn. The key cities, for which the armies will fight are Dayton, Cincinnati, Columbus, Wheeling, Cleveland, Akron, and perhaps Pittsburgh and Youngstown.

More than 100 planes will participate in aerial battles with red planes having a base at Norton Field, Columbus, and blue planes at Wilbur Wright Field, Dayton. On May 18th all offensive type planes in the army will attack Cincinnati with all pursuit planes defending.

The battle is to be broadcast by radio. As a part of the maneuvers, a bombing plane is to put the "Question Mark" refueling experiment into practice, attempting a raid on New York from Dayton, refueling at Middletown, Pa.

GIRL BREAKS WOMAN'S ENDURANCE AIR RECORD

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., April 24.—Miss Elinor Smith, 17-year-old aviatrix, surpassed the world's record for women for sustained flight at 9:43:56 a. m. today.

She had been in the air twenty-two hours, three minutes and twelve seconds and was still flying.

The previous women's endurance flight record was held by Mrs. Louise McPhetridge, of Los Angeles. Mrs. McPhetridge had made the 22:03:12 record.

Aviators at the field said they did not believe Miss Smith would remain aloft much longer in her Bellanca monoplane because of mechanical trouble.

Shortly after her twentieth hour in the air, she dropped a note saying her stabilizer had "gone haywire" and that she had both arms "wrapped around the stick."

FOUR PASSENGERS ON LINER DIE FROM MALARIA WHILE ON CRUISE

CHERBOURG, April 24.—The Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Atholl landed ninety passengers here today after a cruise to South American and South African ports during which four American passengers died.

Passengers who landed here said the deaths were caused by malaria contracted from mosquito bites in the Gruger National Park and Victoria Falls, Africa.

The deaths occurred a month ago when the ship was in Italy, the passengers said.

The dead passengers were: Henry Norweb, 68, Roslyn Heights, N. Y., who died in Naples on March 26. Norweb, it was understood, was former head of a lace factory at Elyria, O.

Edward Hardenbrook, 52, Rochester, N. Y., who died March 28 in Naples.

Luther Facey, 72, of New York, who died March 28 and was buried in Naples.

Mrs. Alice H. Ernecke, Hollywood, Calif., whose body was cremated in Italy.

Careful examination of the passengers who landed here was made under orders of the ministry of hygiene, issued following reports that the four might have died from a contagious disease.

The ministry said if the deaths were found due to an epidemic disease, international sanitary laws would be invoked and the passengers would be placed in quarantine or allowed to continue their travel with sanitary passports providing for rigid survey of their health during the next eighteen days.

The Cherbourg passengers expected to leave here immediately on a special train for Paris. Two hundred other passengers aboard the Duchess of Atholl were enroute to Southampton.

WILL DEMAND THREE MURDER TRUE BILLS FOR RAID KILLING

Special Counsel To Ask
Indictments Of Grand Jury

GENEVA, Ill., April 24.—Three true bills charging murder or accessory to murder will be demanded of the special Kane county grand jury investigating the "dry" raid killing of Mrs. Lillian De King of Aurora Assistant Prosecutor Robert A. Milroy said today.

Milroy, attorney for the De King family but acting as assistant to State's Attorney George D. Cahary, said he would ask the grand jury for a murder indictment against the leader of the raiding party, Deputy Sheriff Roy Smith, who killed Mrs. De King and accessory to murder indictment of Deputies Hale Treadwell and Charles Anderson.

Milroy said he would ask indictments for perjury against Eugene Boyd Fairchild, investigator, who admitted he swore to a false affidavit of purchase of liquor at the De King home. Fairchild was freed of a perjury charge when a justice of a peace ruled his affidavit was illegal because the name of the deiry was not mentioned when the investigator swore to his statement.

DRY REPEAL PASSES ILLINOIS HOUSE

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 24.—The Weber-O'Grady bill providing for repeal of the state search and seizure act, passed by the house of representatives, was brought to the Illinois senate today.

Facing a ruling "dry" majority of the upper house, the measure was given little chance of passage. Some opponents even predicted the bill would be killed in committee, it was expected the bill would be referred to the judiciary committee after reading today.

The bill, which carries a provision for a state referendum on prohibition, passed the house by a vote of 77 to 65. The seventy-seven votes constituted a bare constitutional majority.

RESCUER KILLED

Keith Anderson, above, set out in search of the Southern Cross which was lost in the wilds of Australia but he never came back. Circling low over the heart of the Tanimi Desert in North Australia rescuers sighted the flyer's body and dispatched a party to bring it in.

ELECTION OF CURRY BY TAMMANY COSTS AL SMITH PRESTIGE

Means Victory For Faction Of Mayor Jimmy Walker

NEW YORK, April 24.—A return to the old policy of concentrating on local government, the ascendancy to power of Mayor James J. Walker and a loss in the prestige of former Governor Alfred E. Smith were seen today as the important results in the election yesterday of John E. Curry as leader of Tammany Hall, succeeding George W. Olvany, resigned.

Curry immediately after his election announced his unqualified support of Mayor Walker for re-nomination and expressed himself as confident of Democratic success in the coming municipal election.

Smith lost face in the organization by Curry's election because Curry was an opponent of the Smith policies which dominated Tammany for the past five years and put the organization into the field of national politics in support of Smith's presidential candidacy.

In commending on the election, the New York Herald Tribune said editorially: "In the election of John F. Curry as its new leader Tammany has decided that genuine old Tammany is to be preferred to a bogus new Tammany."

A New York Times editorial said in part: "Tammany has made its choice; and its choice is an 'insider' rather than an 'outsider,' a district leader rather than a statesman, the counsel of Mayor Walker rather than the counsel of Al Smith. . . . There is no use in blinking at the facts. At least for the moment Al Smith has been repudiated by the organization whose reputation he refurbished, almost lone-handedly. Mayor Walker rules the roost."

THREE DROWN, 70 MISSING AS STEAMER SINKS

TOKIO, April 24.—Three persons were known to be dead and seventy were missing today as result of the sinking of the Japanese steamer Toyokuni Maru off the coast of Kamohatka Peninsula. Most of the victims were fishermen.

The ship founded Monday. Several vessels rushed to the scene to assist in the rescuing of the passengers and crew. A complete check-up of the passenger list was not obtainable, but the number of casualties was expected to be great.

SEARCH FOR BANKER ON BORDER FAILS

NILES, O., April 24.—Mayor George O. Marshall and Patrolman Al Casper returned last night from Canada, where they had been searching for Carter C. McConnell, 44, missing secretary and general manager to the McKinley Savings and Loan Company.

Marshall reported that all ports of entry for a distance of 380 miles along the Canadian border were checked, but without finding any trace of the missing official who is charged with embezzling company funds.

Several lodges familiar to McConnell were investigated, but he had not been there, the mayor learned.

WOMAN KILLED

NEWCOMERTOWN, O., April 24.—Mrs. Anna King, 30, was killed near here last night when the driver of the car in which she was riding swerved into a signpost to avoid hitting a freight train. The woman's neck was broken. Ray Congleton of New Philadelphia, driver of the car was held for questioning.

BODIES RECOVERED ALONG ROADSIDE; FEAR GANG REVENGE

Police Ordered To "Clean House" In Gang Districts

CLEVELAND, O., April 24.—Two Cleveland racketeers were found slain today along the roadside at the bottom of Skinner's Hill in Independence Township south of the city.

After being beaten they had been stabbed with an ice pick.

The two men were Morris "Skinny" Fuerstman, 27, released about a year ago from Atlanta federal prison, and Isadore Schiller, 43, on parole from Eastern Penitentiary, Philadelphia.

Norman Reese, an employe of the Cleveland Disposal Plant, found the bodies while on his way to work.

He summoned authorities. Cleveland police, under Detective Inspector C. W. Cody, County Detective Gideon Rabshaw, Marshal Charles Howe of Brooklyn Heights and Marshal Otto Hildebrandt and his deputy, Harry Coughlin, were among those who responded.

Inspector Cody and Detective Anthony Koryta, who accompanied him, identified the two men at a glance.

Both were well known in gambling districts here. Cody termed the pair "racketeers, gangsters, hijackers and gunmen." Fuerstman was known as a card shark, he said.

That the murderers may have come to Cleveland from Detroit for that purpose was the belief of the authorities.

Police records revealed that a month ago the pair, along with two others, were arrested on hijacking charges after they attempted to steal a load of liquor consigned to a Detroit bootleg gang.

They were released on bonds furnished by Samuel Abrahamson, Detroit professional bondsman. Abrahamson's action in furnishing the bond brought censure from leaders of the bootleg gang and two weeks ago he was found slain.

Schiller is rumored to have had a fight with a Cleveland gunman recently also.

Orders to clean house in the districts where gamblers and racketeers congregate were issued to police here immediately.

The two men were killed shortly before 4 a. m. The bodies were still warm when found.

Both men had been beaten severely before death, Coroner A. J. Pierce said after an examination at county morgue. The necks of both appeared to have been broken. An ice pick was found imbedded in the head of one of the men.

Coroner Pierce said that he believed the men had been induced into an auto, and once inside the car had been overpowered, and ropes placed about their necks.

Choked into unconsciousness they had been struck over the head with a heavy instrument, which fractured the skulls, Dr. Pierce said. The eyes of one of the men were gouged out.

Schiller had a wife and three children, their whereabouts unknown to the authorities.

Both men recently appeared in Cleveland police court. Both were discharged on a suspicion charge.

The crime recalled two other double-killings here traceable to underworld warfare.

On Oct. 8, 1927, Ernest Yorkell and Henry Braunstein, Philadelphia racketeers, were found slain in similar circumstances, and on Nov. 13, 1927, "Big Joe" and John Leonardo, bootleg sugar barons, were "taken for a ride" and murdered.

THREE HELD AFTER FATAL AUTO CRASH

STUEBENVILLE, O., April 24.—Three men were held in jail here today following the death of their companion, in an auto accident at Toronto. The dead man, Harvey Parkinson, 44, of East Liverpool, was killed when the car in which he was riding crashed into a truck. Robert Bickelstaff, driver of the auto, and John and Nick Finnegan of Steubenville were arrested. Authorities charged they had been drinking.

MADISON, Wis., April 24.—The going "liberal."

Legislation pending or enacted

It is the intention that citizens of the state want their whisky un-

the eighteenth amendment abolished.

As Senator Thomas W. Duncan,
Socialist and liberal leader, puts it,
Wisconsin has discovered that the ceeding ten dollars.

"Enforcing it and Wisconsin could semblyman John Grohschmidt, 59-

year-old Milwaukeean.

"Grohschmidt" is also the author of the dry law repeal bill which has passed the assembly and appears to be assured of similar action in the senate.

Senator Howard Teasdale, vet-erin reform leader, started the senate with the introduction of a bill to repeal the state "dry" law, abolish state prohibition enforcement, departments and leave control of the liquor problem to federal forces and county option.

Although Teasdale has proposed
a bill to ban sale of malt syrup, Wisconsin citizens still can perform chemical experiments in their cellars with malt as far as the state is concerned.

Senator Bernard Gettleman
blames "war hysteria" for prohibition and the senate has passed his resolution asking congress to call a constitutional convention to repeal the eighteenth amendment.

"Wisconsin legislators went from a saloon to the capitol, ratified that amendment; then went back to their drinking and laughed about it,"
Gettleman recalled.

CONVICT GRANDMOTHER ON SEX PAMPHLET

NEW YORK, April 24.—Mrs.
Mary Ware Dennett, a gray-haired grandmother who more than a decade ago wrote for the information of her growing sons a pamphlet on "The Sex Side of Life," has been convicted of sending obscene matter through the mails.

The conviction, returned by a jury of middle-aged family men in Brooklyn carried a possible penitence of five years' imprisonment or a $5,000 fine, or both.

It seems probable that the prosecution would not favor a prison term but would consider it a victory to prevent further distribution of Mrs. Dennett's treatise, which has been used widely in educational work of the Y. M. C. A., Union Theological seminary, churches and social organizations.

The sons in question, now 23 and 25, sat on each side of Mrs. Dennett, one of them reached over and pressed her hand as the jury foreman arose to report.

A number of representatives or organizations which had used Mrs.
Dennett's pamphlet because they considered it a suitable presentation of sex facts for adolescents, were on hand to support the defendant. The specific charge against Mrs. Dennett was that the pamphlet was mailed to a woman in Grottoes, Va., a charge which the defendant readily admitted.

CRASH ENDS PLANS

Plans for a newspaper career and for her marriage in May are over for Miss Cecelia Kelly, 23, of Kansas City, Mo., one of the victims of the mid-air crash between a passenger ship and an army pursuit plane at San Diego, Cal., in which six men died. Miss Kelly,
a member of the staff of a Phoenix, Ariz., newspaper, was to wed
a Denver newspaperman next month.

Passengers who landed here said
the deaths were caused by malaria
contracted from mosquito bites in
the Granger National Park and Vic-
torial Falls, Africa.

The deaths occurred a month ago when the ship was in Italy, the passengers said.

The dead passengers were:
Henry Norweb, 65, Roslyn
Heights, N. Y., who died in Naples on March 26, Norweb, it was understood, was former head of a lace factory at Elyria, O.

Edward Hardenbrook, 52, Rochester, N. Y., who died March 28 in Naples.

Luther Percy, 72, of New York, who died March 28 and was buried in Naples.

Mrs. Alice H. Ernecke, Hollywood, Calif., whose body was cremated in Italy.

Careful examination of the passengers who landed here was made under orders of the ministry of hygiene, issued following reports that the four slight have died from a contagious disease.

The ministry said if the deaths
were found due to an epidemic disease, international sanitary laws would be placed in quarantine or allowed to continue their travel with sanitary passports providing for rigid survey of their health
during the next eighteen days.

The Cherbourg passengers expected to leave here immediately on a special train for Paris. Two hundred other passengers aboard
the Duchess of Atholi were enroute to Southampton.

BANKERS ARRESTED
FOR EMBEZZLEMENT

YOUNGSTOWN, O., April 24.—P.
F. Carosella, president and Eugene
Rudy, cashier of the Union Savings Bank, which was closed April 13
by E. H. Blair, state superintendent of banks, were under arrest
here today and are being held under $75,000 bail each.

Carosella is charged with embezzlement of $5,000.

Rudy is charged with making false statements to bank examiners regarding funds. The particular concern says having deposits.

Prosecutor Roy L. Thomas said.

Facing a ruling "dry" majority of the upper house, the measure was given little chance of passage.

Some opponents even predicted
the bill would be killed in committee. It was expected the bill would be referred to the judiciary committee after reading today.

The bill, which carries a provision for a state referendum on prohibition, passed the house by a vote of 77 to 65. The seventy-seven votes constituted a bare constitutional majority.

car in which she was riding swerved into a signpost that was

GIRL BREAKS WOMAN'S ENDURANCE AIR RECORD

ROOSEVELT FIELD, L. I., April 24. — Miss Elinor Smith, 17-year-old aviatrix, surpassed the world's record for women for sustained flight at 9:43:56 a. m. today.

She had been in the air twenty-two hours, three minutes and twelve seconds and was still flying.

The previous women's endurance flight record was held by Mrs. Louise McPhetridge, of Los Angeles. Mrs. McPhet-ridge had made the 22:03:12 record.

Aviators at the field said they did not believe Miss Smith would remain aloft much longer in her Bellanca monoplane because of mechanical trouble.

Shortly after her twentieth hour in the air, she dropped a note saying her stabilizer had "gone haywire" and that she had both arms "wrapped around the stick."

FOUR PASSENGERS ON LINER DIE
FROM MALARIA WHILE ON CRUISE

CHERBOURG, April 24.—The Canadian Pacific liner Duchess of Atholi landed ninety passengers here today after a cruise to South America and North Africa ports
during which four American passengers died.

the deaths were caused by malaria
contracted from mosquito bites in
the Granger National Park and Vic-
torial Falls, Africa.

ELECTION OF CURRY
BY TAMMANY COSTS
AL SMITH PRESTIGE

Means Victory For Faction Of Mayor Jimmy
Walker

NEW YORK, April 24.—A return to the old policy of concentrating on local government, the agency to power of Mayor James J. Walker and a loss in the prestige of former Governor Alfred E. Smith were seen today as the important results in the election yesterday of John F. Curry as leader of Tammany Hall, succeeding George W. Olvany, resigned.

Curry immediately after his election announced his unqualified support of Mayor Walker for re-nomination and expressed himself as confident of Democratic success in the coming municipal election.

Smith lost face in the organization by Curry's election because Curry was an opponent of the Smith policies which dominated Tammany for the past five years and put the organization into the hands of national politics in support of Smith's presidential candidacy.

In commenting on the election,
the New York Herald Tribune
said editorially: "In the election of John F. Curry as its new leader of Tammany has decided that genuine old Tammany is to be preferred to a bogus new Tammany."

A New York Times editorial said
in part: "Tammany has made its choice, and its choice is an 'insider' rather than an 'outsider,' a district leader rather than a statesman, the counsel of Mayor Walker
rather than the counsel of Al Smith. . . . There is no use in blinking at the facts. At least for the moment Al Smith has been repudiated by the organization whose reputation he refurbished, almost hopelessly."

Curry said he would ask indictments for perjury against Eugene Boyd Fairchild, investigator, who admitted he swore to a false afdavit of a purchase of liquor at the De King home. Fairchild was freed of a perjury charge when a friend of a peace ruled his afdavit was illegal because the name of the deity was not mentioned when the investigator swore to his statement.

XENIA REVIEWER'S PRAISE GIVEN MISS SANTMYER'S NOVEL

Of intense interest to the residents of Xenia is the setting of Miss Helen Santmyer's new novel, "The Pierce Dispute." Many of us remember the "Roberts Villa" when it was one of the places regarded with pride by its citizens. We remember as children looking through the iron fence that enclosed it, longing to invade its sacred precincts and play in the acres of beautiful waving grass over which the untrimmed maples bent low. On some lucky day when by oversight the gates were left unlocked we even ventured in a few yards, tasting the sweets of stolen joys and feeling constantly that we might be seized at any moment by the faithful retainer, never long off duty, and ejected from the forbidden territory.

With the same skillful pen with which Miss Santmyer portrays Derrick in "Herbs and Apples," she portrays with delicate touches Lucy Anne, the innocent cause of the contest of wills between her mother and grandmother. Hilary has never ceased to love her husband Paolo, though her pride obliged her to leave him and she has thrown herself on her mother's bounty for her child's sake. Mrs. Baird says that Lucy Anne must never be taught music for her father was a musician and to Mrs. Baird, Paolo exemplified the worst type of moral weakness. Mrs. Baird's refusal to give Hilary money to go to her dying husband's bedside, although he begs her to come, only increases Hilary's purpose to give his child this education. Lucy Anne, stealing into the closed part of the Old House, and though untrained, striking wonderful chords from the old rosewood piano, shows her bent. Dr. Martin Child, who attends Lucy Anne's broken ankle, and who is an old boyhood lover of Hilary's, tries to win Hilary's affection, but her heart is with Paolo.

The book reaches its highest point of interest in the dream which Miss Santmyer handles with delicacy and the touch of the master story-teller. It must be read to be appreciated. After Mrs. Baird's death, Hilary, through the apathy caused by increasing ill health, weakens with reference to the terms of the will, but is saved by certain conditions which made it possible to place Lucy Anne in school in Italy to be trained in the music for which she was so well fitted. In Hilary's own words "Love is the only thing in my life that gives it a reason for being." Reviewed by Etta G. McElwain.

WHETHER YOU LIKE THEM IS DEBATABLE BUT THEY WERE GOOD

Speaking from the standpoint of one who is irrevocably committed to the opinion that one-act plays are more or less a bore, the one-act tragedy, "phantasy and comedy" offered by the Xenia Little Theater Guild at City Hall Theater Tuesday night came under the heading of diversified entertainment and 100 per cent for local consumption.

Admittedly, there are at least two sides to every question, and as a matter of fact, yours very truly includes himself among those people who wouldn't like one-act plays even if they were good, which these very possibly were.

In our two introductions to this story (one of which was lost) we made a general survey of the development of one-act plays from Plato down to Old Man ("He Must Know Nothing") River. In beginning our story proper, perhaps it might be wise to forget all that we have said before and start fresh, as a lot of new things have come up since the last introduction was written.

Now take that opening play, "Jon," a Scotch tragedy written by Dorothy Savage. Isn't life fearful? Here we had tragedy in full measure, pressed down and running over. Not a tear remained unshed and suffering with a capital S is made to seem a cardinal virtue. Every move made was with the intention of keeping the tear ducts open.

In this play we are introduced to six characters, of whom several are Guild regulars and one or two are new. The scene is a fisherman's hut in Scotland. Little Jon, aged 8, (Mildred Mason) brings a dead bird into the hut and his grandfather, a part taken by Mrs. James Wilson, III, takes time off from her spinning wheel long enough to predict a tragedy ten years hence. Sure enough, Jon is drowned about ten years later.

It was a dark and stormy night and while the tempest was at its height, Jon's body is brought home, having been washed ashore. Miss Elsie Canby and William Horner, as the parents of Jon, give realistic characterizations. Bill deviated from his customary role. Other characters are Miss Edna Dalley as Nan, Jon's sweetheart, and Marcus McCallister as Larry, Jon's old friend. The only astonishing feature was that while the storm was raging, Nan should rush to the fisherman's hut without having taken the precaution to put a chair or something over her shoulders ("Always belittlin'"). Anyway it was a good storm, as storms go.

"Columbine in Business," was the title of the phantasy, the second play, written by Rachel Lyman Field and presenting four characters. All the action takes place in what is termed a dinky little New York office.

There was Miss Helen Ford as Miss Columbine, a typical stenographer and James Bryson as Mr. Harlequin, a thirty-dollar-a-week office boy who is in love with her. They work for Mr. Pantaloon, a soap manufacturer, a part played by John Beacham, who is another Guild discovery. The cast is rounded out by Isadore Hyman as Mr. Scapino, a super-traveling salesman. The play had its moments.

The last play, "Whose Money?" a farce by Dickson and Hickson, was perhaps the most enjoyable for it was the most humorous, and because the cast included Harry Higgins with his Irish smile, who went about dispensing good humor. He is caught by his wife robbing his own safe in an effort to get $100 to pay a poker debt and the complicated situations that result are funny to say the least. Mrs. Ray Cox took the part of his wife. The third character was Robert Owens, a burglar, who is caught by Harry and is made to open the safe where presumably his wife keeps her money. He finally gets money and winds up by going off to a poker game despite his promises to give up gambling.

The plays were a credit to Miss Esther Muriel Smith, under whose direction they were presented as the third of four offerings planned by the Guild this season. The direction of the three casts in three different types of drama and presenting them so capably, was, somehow, one of the sincerest tributes to her ability that could be attempted. One thing that was outstanding was the stage settings and scenery.

Between acts musical entertainment was furnished by the Xenia Woman's Music Club. Leighou Little gave several cornet solos with his mother, Mrs. Howard Little, playing the piano accompaniment; Miss Zella Soward gave vocal selections and Miss Christine Williams featured with violin selections with Miss Marjorie Strain at the piano. These contributions to the program were well received.—P. W. Frame.

RUMORED MERGER OF RUBBER COMPANIES HAS BEEN ABANDONED

CLEVELAND, O., April 24.—Merger of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, the United States Rubber Company, and the Seiberling Tire and Rubber Corporation into a $620,000,000 combine, held virtually certain in Cleveland financial circles six months ago, at the same source today reported definitely "off."

Instead, the Du Ponts, dominating figures behind the predicted merger, were seen as sending their efforts to restore United States rubber to the position it held as recognized leader of the industry before Goodyear moved into the front rank two years ago.

A step in this direction was seen in the election of John J. Raskob, former General Motors head and Du Pont ally, to the board of directors of United States Rubber.

P. W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear, asserted the merger plan was not being even remotely considered.

Associates here of F. W. Seiberling, deposed head of Goodyear, who stood to regain his position as the outstanding figure in the industry under the merger setup, echoed Litchfield's declaration.

Goodyear at present is undisputed leader of the world rubber industry.

PONDERS CLAIM MARE IS TEMPERAMENTAL

A charge that a gray mare which Melvin J. Hansell purchased from Clarence Mangan for $141 at public auction, instead of being a sound and quiet worker in every respect as represented, turned out to be a vicious plunging and kicking mare, and is practically worthless as a work horse, was being debated by a jury in Common Pleas Court Wednesday.

Hansell charged the nature of the animal was misrepresented to him by Mangan and consequently he brought suit for $245. Jury trial of the case began Tuesday morning and the suit went to the jury early early Wednesday morning. The jurors could not reach a verdict at the morning session.

CO-OPERATION SOUGHT BY MISS LYONS; SOCIAL AGENCIES MEET

Miss Emma Lyons, Ironton, O., newly-appointed executive secretary of the merged Greene County Chapter Red Cross and Social Service League, addressed the first joint meeting of the welfare organization at its new headquarters in the basement of the Court House Tuesday afternoon.

Thirty-four members were present, including representatives from Cedarville, Jamestown, Osborn and Yellow Springs.

Miss Lyons outlined her policies, stressed the need of co-operation, discussed her plans and the work of a Red Cross worker, including housing conditions and office business.

She pointed out it is not the aim of the organization to pauperize any family but that it will be the duty to give immediate relief where needed and then build up the family to a point where it will no longer need assistance.

Miss Lyons expects to spend the next two weeks familiarizing herself with and studying local conditions, after which the organization's budget for the remainder of this year will be drawn up.

A letter from the Rev. Charles P. Proudfit, Cambridge, O., former pastor of the Second U. P. Church here, in which he expressed pleasure regarding the appointment of Miss Lyons and congratulated the two welfare organizations for their decision to unite, was read at the meeting.

Dr. Proudfit had assisted local welfare workers in arriving at a decision concerning the appointment of an executive secretary and his recommendation of Miss Lyons influenced her appointment.

WHETHER YOU LIKE THEM IS DEBATABLE BUT THEY WERE GOOD

Speaking from the standpoint of one who is irrevocably committed to the opinion that one-act plays are more or less a bore, the one-act tragedy, fantasy and comedy offered by the Xenia Little Theater Guild at City Hall Theater Tuesday night came under the heading of diversified entertainment and 100 per cent for local consumption.

Admittedly, there are at least two sides to every question, and as a matter of fact, yours very truly includes himself among those people who wouldn't like one-act plays even if they were good, which these very possibly were.

RUMORED MERGER OF RUBBER COMPANIES HAS BEEN ABANDONED

CLEVELAND, O., April 24.—Merger of Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, the United States Rubber Company, and the Scholastic Tire and Rubber Corporation into a $629,000,000 combine, held virtually certain in Cleveland financial circles six months ago, at the same source today reported definitely "off."

Instead, the Du Ponts, dominating figures behind the predicted merger, were seen as sending efforts to restore United States Rubber to the position it held as recognized leader of the industry before Goodyear moved into the front rank two years ago.

A step in this direction was seen in the election of John J. Raskob, former General Motors head and Du Pont ally, to the board of directors of United States Rubber. P. W. Litchfield, president of Goodyear, asserted the merger plan was not being even remotely considered.

Associates here of F. W. Seiberling, deposed head of Goodyear, who stood to regain his position as the outstanding figure in the industry under the merger setup, echoed Litchfield's declaration. Goodyear at present is undisputed leader of the world rubber industry.

PONDERS CLAIM MARE IS TEMPERAMENTAL

A charge that a gray mare which Melvin J. Hansell purchased from Clarence Mangan for $141 at public auction, instead of being a sound and quiet worker in every respect as represented, turned out to be a vicious plunging and kicking mare, and is practically worthless as a work horse, was being debated by a jury in Common Pleas Court Wednesday.

Hansell charged the nature of the animal was misrepresented to him by Mangan and consequently he brought suit for $245. Jury trial of the case began Tuesday morning and the suit went to the jury early Wednesday morning. The jurors could not reach a verdict at the morning session.

WARNS TAXPAYERS ABOUT TAX RETURNS

Taxpayers of Greene County are again being warned by County Auditor R. O. Wear that only six more days remain for the filing of personal property tax returns without delinquency.

Delinquent property owners will lose the $100 property exemption and besides subject themselves to a possible 50 per cent penalty. With the deadline date nearing, not more than half of the total estimated returns have been filed. Returns may be filed on or before May 1 without delinquency.

Mr. Wiggins served five years at Kingman school prior to going to Cuba, Ohio.

CO-OPERATION SOUGHT BY MISS LYONS; SOCIAL AGENCIES MEET

Miss Emma Lyons, Ironton, O., newly-appointed executive secretary of the merged Greene County Chapter Red Cross and Social Service League, addressed the first joint meeting of the welfare organization at its new headquarters in the basement of the Court House Tuesday afternoon.

Thirty-four members were present, including representatives from Cedarville, Jamestown, Osborn and Yellow Springs.

Miss Lyons outlined her policies, stressed the need of co-operation, discussed her plans and the work of a Red Cross worker, including housing conditions and office business.

She pointed out it is not the aim of the organization to pauperize any family but that it will be the duty to give immediate relief where needed and then build up the family to a point where it will no longer need assistance.

Miss Lyons expects to spend the next two weeks familiarizing herself with and studying local conditions, after which the organization's budget for the remainder of this year will be drawn up.

A letter from the Rev. Charles P. Proudfit, Cambridge, O., former pastor of the Second U. P. Church here, in which he expressed pleasure regarding the appointment of Miss Lyons and congratulated the two welfare organizations for their decision to unite, was read at the meeting.

Dr. Proudfit had assisted local welfare workers in arriving at a decision concerning the appointment of an executive secretary and his recommendation of Miss Lyons influenced her appointment.

YOUTH INJURED AS AUTO HITS CYCLE AT STREET CORNER

Edwin Maxey, 19, son of Mrs. Cora Maxey, Chestnut St., is in Esop Hospital with his left leg broken as the result of a collision between an auto and a motorcycle at Main and West Sts., late Tuesday afternoon.

Maxey was riding on the rear seat of a motorcycle operated by Merle Borton, this city, when the cycle was struck by an auto driven by Charles Hess, Spring Valley.

Removed to Esop Hospital in the ambulance of R. M. Neeld, funeral director, an X-ray disclosed that the left leg was broken below the knee. An examination also revealed he was bruised badly over the body and the face, particularly about the eyes. Borton, his companion, was only slightly hurt.

The motorcycle was going east on W. Main St. and the accident occurred when Hess, traveling west on Main St., attempted to turn south onto West St.

Peter Shagin, motorcycle policeman, who investigated the accident, took Hess to Police Headquarters, but the driver was later released from custody.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

MAN'S EXERCISE, GOD'S OPPORTUNITY — When my soul fainted within me I remembered the Lord: and my prayer came in unto thee, into thine holy temple.—Jonah 2:7.

SINCLAIR'S JAIL TERM

The United States supreme court has upheld the trial court in the action against Harry F. Sinclair for contempt of the senate. This means that, subject to review, Sinclair must pay a $500 fine and serve three months in jail. The case grew out of his refusal to answer questions put to him by the senate committee that investigated the Teapot Dome scandal and revealed the fraudulent nature of his transaction with Secretary Fall.

Sending so wealthy a citizen as Harry F. Sinclair to jail serves the useful purpose of disillusioning those who believe that in this country "you can't convict a million dollars." Sinclair escaped other convictions in connection with the Teapot Dome deal only to be sent up for contempt! A rich man may hire clever lawyers to gum the wheels of justice for a while; but in the end, if the public's case is properly pressed by the prosecutors, they usually grind out for the blind goddess at least a soupcon.

AIRPLANES AND HOTELS

If aviation in this country develops with anything like the speed that the leaders in the industry are predicting—and there isn't any very good reason for thinking it will not—we are going to see a growth that will surprise us.

Here's a sample. Chicago is going to hold a great international exposition in 1934. And aviation leaders are predicting now that Chicago's hotels will not be overcrowded, no matter how great the throngs that go to see it. Why? Because, they say, aviation will be so far developed by that time that visitors will stop in cities like Detroit, Cleveland, Indianapolis and St. Louis, if they cannot find accommodations in Chicago, and will fly back and forth to the exposition daily.

That sounds almost incredible. Yet it is, obviously, quite within the realm of possibilities. The airplane may yet work as profound a change in our social and economic organization as the automobile has done.

Army officers at Fort Houston are taking a new course in cooking prescribed by the War Department. Is it possible somebody has been opening cans the wrong way?

A Chicago woman offered a conductor a transfer that was 36 years old. Just like a woman to stand there all that time and be sure the car would come.

Your BROADWAY

By Walter Winchell And Mine

NEW YORK — He is one of Broadway's biggest stars. He has been married for five years to a stage-struck lassie who has urged him countless times to get her on the stage. "But, darling," he would say, "you're absolutely no ability. You can't act."

However, for four years she has been sweethearting with her husband's closest friend, and gives such a remarkable performance as a devoted wife that few people know about the affair.

READING TALENT — The talking pictures are not perfect yet, of course, and there isn't any very good reason for thinking it will not be until they discover a way to kill the lisp in your favorite actor or actress. In Hollywood retentively, a thin-film firm thudded from great expense and time retaking a scene because the projection room revealed a frightful hissing sound which came from the thirteenth actretheth voith.

After a lot of time and money with waithed they finally ditched what with wrong. It came from the line: "So, Cyril, success so soon?"

SAME HERE — The Girl in the Office Next Door Who Can't Get Excited Over the Mexican Revolution, says that she doesn't care which side takes Valencia, as long as they don't sing it.

NEWSPAPERMAN STUFF — Before he was appointed the head of the dramatic reviewing staff of the Times, J. Brooks Atkinson served as a reporter on the Boston Transcript. Once they would have (or believe) he covered a big fire in Boston and wrote two powerful descriptive columns about the great flames and the immense smoke. He failed, however, to record the number injured and made no mention of the dead.

So they made him a dramatic critic.

POOR MARY — Mary had a little lamb. A lobster and some prunes. A glass of milk, a piece of pie. And then some macaroons. She made the naughty waiter grin to see her order so! And when they carried Mary out Her face was white as snow!

SOHELPME! — "What?" asks a caustic commentator, "ever become of the vaudeville ham who always pulled the one about the dumb girl who thought Rex Beach was a summer resort?"

He was at Keith's Palace (where they say you haven't arrived until you've played that theatre) last week.

NIFTY

Donald Ogden Stewart, the magazine comedian and also a hilarious part of "Holiday" at the Plymouth theatre, got a huge laugh at the benefit for crippled children last week. Stewart, who officiated as ringmaster, asserted: "I don't really know any crippled children. But if I don't get any sleep soon the brat in the apartment over mine will BE one!"

GONE ARE THE DAYS

The bamboo cocktails at the Hoffman House, the Jack Rose's at Eberlin's, the two-for-a-quarter, Manhattan at the Knickerbocker, the perfect cocktails at Delmonico's, the Thomas Flyers at Sherry's, the orange blossoms at the Manhattan, the Infuriators at the Cafe des Beaux Arts, the Central Park Souths at the Plaza, the absinthe frappers at Murray's, the silver fizzes at the Waldorf, the foamy Vurberger at Luchow's, the palate-tickling chianti at Gazzo's, the old fashions at the Imperial, the stars at the Astor, the mint juleps at Healy's, the diamond fizzes at the Belmont, the Pilsner at Probst's, the rickies at Churchill's, the Zeligers at Shanley's, the clove-Clubs at the Netherland, the white mint at the Green Turtle, the Bronx at the Holland House, the brown October ale at Brownie's, the gin daisies at Rector's, the burgundies at the Savoy, the whisky sours at Burns', the fifteen-cent-a-pint California claret at the one and the only Maria's.—Charles G. Shaw

NIFTIES — From the late Keith Preston's "Pop Shots from Pegasus": "A nifty is an epitaph in low company, and an epitaph is a disappointed paragraph."

INCIDENTALLY — There was the time James J. Tunney went incessantly as he told an Evening Post reporter how he adored a certain poem, which he recited with gestures. "Yes, indeed," yes-indeed, Mr. Tunney, "that's my favorite poem by Cowper, my favorite poet!" The reporter potted down his notes, but had his doubts. When he returned to his office he phoned the public library to check up on the poem. Tunney chatted about it. There was such a poem, all right, but it wasn't by Cowper. It was by Edwin Markham.

The Way of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

PAINFUL TIMIDY

Years and years ago we were told by the old copy book rules that it was better to grasp a nettle firmly or take a bull by the horns than to go in gently and get hurt. And yet it is a lesson that few learn. Our failure in this respect accounts for much misery. Most of us face, now and then, difficult situations. There is only one way out, and that is to go straight through with it. There is something to be said that we do not like to say, or something to be done we do not like to do, but we hang around the edges and remain unhappy. We try to wade in where we ought to jump in.

A LIBERAL IDEA

Three European professors arrive in Chicago to teach during the spring at Chicago university. They come from Leipzig in Germany, from the University of Moscow in Russia, and from Glasgow, Scotland. We ought to read about this sort of thing often. God forbid that America, cut off by the wide sea from the rest of western civilization, should ever be provincial and narrow and intolerant in its ideas! Let's have Russians, Germans, Englishmen, Frenchmen lecturing in our schools as often as possible.

THE ICE MAN AND THE BABY

If you have a baby girl in your home be sure and invite the ice man to call on her now and then. If there is a bottle to be handed to the baby, let the ice man do it. The idea is that if infants are to lose their fear of strangers and grow up to be comfortable, happy children, they must have fear trained out of them early. Dr. John B. Watson, psychologist, says here is where the ice man—perhaps the grocer's boy would do as well—fits in. Giddap.

ANOTHER LAMP LIGHTER

The death of Dr. Alfred Wakeman on shipboard, on his way home from a year's study of yellow fever in Africa, is just one more instance of the martyrdom of earnest men that goes on constantly so the generations to come may live safer, happier lives. There is probably more overwork among scientists than among the rest of us whose work is vastly less important. Curiously enough, most of the complaint comes from those whose work is of the least importance.

Who's Who and Timely Views

NO REASON FOR ELABORATE REVISION OF TARIFF LAW SEEN

By NICHOLAS LONGWORTH
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Nicholas Longworth was born at Cincinnati, O., Nov. 5, 1869. He is a graduate of Harvard where he also studied law for a year. Admitted to the bar in 1894, he located in Cincinnati. He served as a member of the Ohio house of representatives from 1899 to 1901 and the state senate the two following years. He was elected to congress from the first Ohio district in 1903, and has been returned every term since excepting for the period from 1913 to 1915. He is now serving his third term as speaker of the house.

The preliminary work of the house on tariff revision and farm relief legislation can be finished within 30 days. With only census and reapportionment legislation to be considered in addition to farm and tariff bills, I see no reason for a prolonged meeting of the special session.

On the subject of tariff, no elaborate revision need be undertaken. In many cases tariff rates should be raised to comport with the American protective policy, which few are left to condemn.

There may also be cases, in which excessive and prohibitory duties should be lowered. My own belief is that the present tariff law is the most successful ever enacted, certainly within the last quarter of a century. It has been protective of practically all of the industries which needed protection, and thereby has broadened and strengthened the home market for the products of those industries. At the same time our exports have very greatly increased, as have the imports of articles needed by the American people and not produced here, to the extent that the revenues received at the customs houses are more than twice as great as those ever derived from any tariff bill in history.

I can see no reason, therefore, why an elaborate revision of our present tariff law ought to be undertaken at this extra session. The sweeping change in world conditions within the past few years has no doubt had its effect on the industrial conditions in America.

A sound mind in a sound body, is a short but full description of a happy state in this world. — Locke.

AS EXPECTED

How to Achieve Beauty

BY NINE, HELENA RUBINSTEIN

The truly lovely arm is slender and rounded, perfectly developed, neither fat nor thin. When extended sideward it shows two distinct, softly tapering lines, one toward the elbow, where the upper arm is slimmest, and again at the wrist, where the arm is narrowest of all and delicately modeled.

The arm of a practiced swimmer shows perfect development, usually, long, smooth lines of muscle contour that flow into each other gracefully with no sign of bunniness or the knobby development that comes with some kinds of strenuous arm exercise.

The very best exercise of all, for the too-thin, helpless looking arm is swimming, and if you suspect your arms of fitting this description, by all means decide to swim often and remedy it. Besides the strength and grace it will add to your arms, will be the health and improved circulation it will bring to you generally. And swimming is good fun! Indulge in it regularly in water just cool enough to invigorate, but not so cold as to chill, and you will find a keen new joy in life, the joy of increased vitality and power.

But if you are not able to swim, if your living arrangements make it impossible, or there is no convenient pool or outdoor swimming place in your locality, don't think that you must give up the plan of exercise to develop your arms.

There are many number of ways to use these muscles and to improve your circulation in general—some of them such common ways that you may have overlooked them entirely. Among them the simple, old-fashioned house-wifely tasks such as sweeping and bed making, when scientifically performed. While the vacuum cleaner is a great labor-saving device, it deprives the modern housekeeper of one of the best kinds of exercise—the sweeping she used to do with her broom.

Turn on the victrola or radio to the briskest, most joyous music you can find, and then sweep, dust or punch pillows in time to its carefree rhythm. Housework becomes something less than drudgery when you determine to make it exercise and fun.

But if you scorn these prosaic, quick, guaranteed effective exercises to develop thin arms into beauty, you can take it morning or night in your bed, when you are relaxed and lazy.

Lie on your side or stand in correct posture. Extend one or both arms full length, parallel with your body, clenching your fist tightly to tense the arm muscles. Then twist your arm around and unclench the fingers, stretching them to the utmost position.

Then twist it slowly back to the front again and clench the fist in its first position.

Begin with hands clenched, arms hanging at sides and gradually raise the arms with each movement, until they are at right angles with the body; then return by degrees to the original position.

Do this exercise ten times for each arm every day, and see how quickly your arms will develop the better. Jack's job is to harness the enemy the worst he knows how.

The complaint concerning Representative Finis J. Garrett of Tennessee, who was Democratic leader for several sessions, until the last congress adjourned, was that he fought the majority in Tennessee's own favorite way.

"Fought" is hardly the right word. Leaders Garrett and Tilson fraternized. Indeed, Garrett frequently was referred to as Tilson's "chief lieutenant."

As for Finis, he was taken care of. President Coolidge gave him a nice federal appointment to console him for his defeat in Tennessee and in token of appreciation of the chivalrous style of his shadow boxing with Colonel Tilson through-out so many pleasant years.

However, the snug berth provided for Finis will not compensate Colonel Tilson for the sleep he must lose through having Jack Garner leading the Democratic bushwhackers against the majority henceforward.

Garner was senior Democratic member of the ways and means committee, which is the most important minority post in the lower house of congress—so important that the leader, himself, could not always keep Jack under control. Now and then, in spite of everything, he went on the rampage.

As leader, on his own account, oh, my!

Some right in! Leader Garner is readily accessible. He is mighty busy, and dispatches business rapidly, and for that very reason he is easy to see—because he permits nobody to hem and haw, and waste his time.

The congressman is a smallish figure which fairly squirms with energy.

A shock of iron gray hair—an intense little face—a pair of burning eyes—the air of an individual who wants, so violently, to get into action that he can hardly sit still.

Congressman Garner has personality to burn.

There is not a great deal of him, but what there is, never in any human being more obviously was dynamite.

The Texan is a cheerful little super-scrapper.

What will the minority's policy be under his leadership?

"Oh, constructive, of course." We grin behind our hand. He looks about as constructive as a machine gun.

Personally, I always thought one of the most constructive things congress could do would be to devote an entire session to nothing but the job of repealing laws—as fast as possible. I suggest this idea to Leader Garner.

"Quite right," he exclaims. "Too many rules and regulations. I wish we could wipe out a third of the statute book."

Then why not?

"No hope, then? Sometimes we can pass a new law, contradicting an old one. We can't repeal. It's the one thing congress can't do."

That settles it.

If there is anything that that streak of chain lightning admits he, himself, couldn't strike and knock into pit, even in a majority, it can't be knocked into pit at all.

"Come in again," yells the congressman. He's a trifle deaf. Now that we think of it, we notice that he has been yelling, too.

Chocolate Roll
(Mrs. Mary Morton's Daily Tasted Recipe)

Separate six eggs and beat the yolks with a cup of powdered sugar until lemon colored. Add three heaping tablespoons of cocoa, a teaspoon of vanilla, and a cup of pastry flour, and the stiffly beaten whites of the six eggs. Bake for 25 to 30 minutes in a moderate oven, using a long, shallow baking pan or a jelly roll tin. When baked, cool, then turn out on a sheet of brown paper which is sprinkled with powdered sugar. When thoroughly cool, spread with sweet whipped cream, roll and sprinkle with powdered sugar, or with whipped cream, or with a chocolate butter frosting.

Foundation for the Children's Diet.
Mrs. S.—The structure of the growing teeth depends as much on a sufficient amount of vegetables, especially on green vegetables, and fruits, as it does upon milk. Is your little girl getting her full quota of vegetables and fruits?

I'll give you a foundation diet for children.

Part 1—Protective Foods.

One and one-half pints milk, at least; one full cupful of vegetables (especially the green leaf vegetables), part of them raw; one full cupful of fruit, part fresh, if possible; one to two ounces high-protein food (flesh foods, eggs, cheese).

Part 2—Energy Foods.
Cereals, including whole grain breads; rice, potatoes, macaroni and similar foods; simple desserts. Fats in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks and nuts.

You will, of course, give the child other foods besides these, but this foundation will largely take care of his quota of protein, mineral elements, vitamins, and a good share of the energy foods.

We have a list of modern books on the general care and feeding of children which you may have.

Mrs. C.—Your baby's little red nose may be due to his adenoids. As your doctor has said that they are not so bad but that they can wait until the summer to have them taken out, I wouldn't worry about this.

Mrs. F.—By nine months, baby should be getting whole milk (without any sweetening). One quart of it is enough. Also, he should be getting cereals and pureed vegetables and fruit. (He can have these as early as the sixth month.)

If your baby absolutely refuses to take solid food, you will probably have to take his milk away from him for a few meals, and perhaps let him go hungry until he will take his solid foods. Tell your neighbors about this so that they won't report you to the S. P. C. A.

Mrs. R.—The person who told you that soups are harmful for children is wrong. The only point to remember is that if the child is undernourished, he should not have a lot of watery soup, because this fills him up and he does not have room for the necessary solid foods. On the other hand, the clear, thin soups can well precede two meals, for the child who is overweight.

Vegetable soups are not a particularly good way to give children their vegetables, because long boiling lessens the vitamins, and the clear vegetable or meat broths do not have much nourishment in them. By adding butter mixed with flour for thickening, and milk and cream and egg yolks, soups can be made very nourishing, and these could be given with great benefit to undernourished children. For the overweight child, these could also be given, but they should form the chief part of the meal.

Living and Loving

BY MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

What price happy marriage? Does age enter into it? What about a difference in religion? And is 16 too young to start married life? One should indeed be a Solomon to answer these questions correct ly.

I suppose the real answer in all three cases lies in the individuals themselves. What difference can a few years make to two people who can work and play in perfect harmony? Whose tastes are similar and who have the same ideals? A difference in religion can make much bitterness, but if two people are broadminded and tolerant and avoid hurting each other, if they can remember that the same ideals of faith and right living underlie all religions, an ideal match might be made.

But I think we all must agree that two youngsters of 16 are altogether too young for the responsibilities of matrimony.

"Dear Virginia Lee: I wonder if you can help me decide my problem. I am a young man 21 years old and am going with a girl of 39. We have been going together for the past 18 years. We never have any trouble or quarrels. I got her a diamond ring awhile ago and we are engaged to be married. I am in doubts whether we will be as happy after marriage as we are now, neither one could give the other up. What do you think about it. Parents on both sides are satisfied. Don't you think we could be happy? I am living in hopes and so is she.

"UNDECIDED."

Your happiness depends on yourselves, undecided. You are pretty young, you know, to marry, and may change. Many boys your age prefer an older woman, but later on they change and take to wife a girl their own age or younger. I think it would be wise to wait awhile, unless you are old for your age. Here are some of the things you will have to face: She will be charged with being a "cradle snatcher," you with marrying an "old woman"; she may think she should be "boss" because she is older, you may make fun of her and accuse her of "ropeing you in," when you disagree. Even though you are both satisfied, your mutual friends will declare that the marriage is foredoomed to failure. But, as I stated in the first place, if you are independent and truly love one another, and if you are similar in tastes and ideals, a few years more or less makes very little difference. Persons have been known to be very happy with a much greater difference in age.

"Dear Virginia Lee: As I've been reading the advice you gave others, I want you to please help me. I've gone with a boy for over a year. We are engaged to be married in two years. Lately it seems that we just can't wait that long. We are both only 16. Do you think that is too young to start out in life? Both of us are jealous and we have had several "bust ups." Now it seems that we could never go wrong, although at times he doubts me. Please dear Virginia Lee, give me some advice on this problem.

"A PUZZLED LOVER."

Yes, I do think you are too young to marry, dear. At 16 a boy is not in a position to "finance" a home, for one thing. If he marries so young, by the time he is really a man he is sick of trying to pay the rent and grocery bills and usually makes his wife unhappy, grumbling and scolding. If you read the column regularly you will notice letters from young wives who were married when they were the age you are now. Two years seems a long time to look forward to, doesn't it, so make up your minds not to be married this year, then when that time has gone, say, "We won't be married for six months more," and then at the end of that time make the same resolve, and when you are 18 say how you feel about it. I am sure you will never be sorry.

"Dear Virginia Lee: I am a senior in high school and am 18 very tall and average as to looks. Am doing in love with a sophomore, boy 15 years of age, who is small in stature, but handsome in looks and lovable in every other way. He does not seem to care so much for me and I have to make all of the advances. Shall I tell him how much I care for him, or shall I let him know of it and see what he says, give him up? I would be willing to marry him as soon as I receive my diploma at the end of the school year, but, of course, his parents would never give their consent and I feel life is empty without him. Please, Virginia advise me just what attitude you think I should take, and even though it is against my wishes I shall take your advice. If I should wait for him until he finishes school and gets a position, do you think he would then take me?

"A DISTRACTED GIRL."

"CUDDLES."

As long as the boy doesn't seem interested in you, I don't see how you can plan matrimony now or later. Cuddles. He may want to go on to college when he finishes school, so that would make nearly seven years before he could take a position, and one or two more before he would be ready for marriage. I really do think you had better out him out of your life, or treat him as you would a sweet younger brother. I am afraid his parents would think you were a very seducing young woman if they could read your letter.

"Dear Virginia Lee: As I've been reading the advice you gave others, I want you to please help me. I've gone with a boy for over a year. We are engaged to be married in two years. Lately it

WISE MOTHER WILD GOOSE
"Tommy, you foolish gosling, come right back here this very instant! Don't try to play any tricks like that! Upon me again, either, for I shall catch you at them every time," quacked Tommy's mother.

Tommy maybe a bit ashamed of himself—for he hung his head—looked over his shoulder to see if his mother meant it, and when he saw her looking at him so sternly he turned and slowly sailed back to her side, grumbling as he went, and the boy, by listening sharp, heard what he said.

"Want to keep me tied to your tail all the time?" muttered he. "I am a big boy now, and yet you act as if I had only yesterday cracked my shell. It makes me sick! Why couldn't I take a little swim by myself across the pond and back? You could watch me all the way over. Look! You can plainly see the other side from here. What could possibly happen to me. I'd like to know!"

"Almost anything could happen and at a moment's notice, Tommy," replied Mrs. Goose. "I do not know what any more than you do. But remember this—there are times in the life of a goose when it pays to use good common sense—and we geese have sense even if the rest of the world say we haven't. We know a year or two before the winter comes, and if anything does happen I want to have the family together, not scattered all over the pond.

"Even if all this wasn't so, you have been taught to mind. If you, who came out of the shell first, do not set a good example to your younger brothers and sisters, whom can I depend upon to help me to bring them up in the way they should go?"

"Wonderful mother, that wife of mine!" remarked Mr. Wild Goose, admiringly. "She'll have no more trouble with Tommy today. He will spend his moments taking care that the rest of the children don't steal out from under cover. She is like that all the time, so wise and gentle. Everybody loves her."

"I'd the rest of your wits fly off!" screamed Gander so sharply that the boy jumped. "What was that you asked me?"

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

MAN'S EXEMPTED, GOD'S OPPORTUNITY — When my soul fainted within me I remembered the Lord; and my prayer came in unto thee, into thine holy temple.—Jonah 2:7.

SINCLAIR'S JAIL TERM

The United States supreme court has upheld the trial court in the action against Harry F. Sinclair for contempt of the senate. This means that, subject to review, Sinclair must pay a $500 fine and serve three months in jail. The case grew out of his refusal to answer questions put to him by the senate committee that investigated the Teapot Dome scandal and revealed the fraudulent nature of his transaction with Secretary Fall.

Sending so wealthy a citizen as Harry F. Sinclair to jail serves the useful purpose of disillusioning those who believe that in this country "you can't convict a million dollars." Sinclair escaped other convictions in connection with the Teapot Dome deal only to be sent up for contempt! A rich man may hire clever lawyers to gum the wheels of justice for a while; but in the end, if the public's case is properly pressed by the prosecutors, they usually grind out for the blind goddess at least a soupçon.

If aviation in this country develops with anything like the speed that the leaders in the industry are predicting—and there isn't any very good reason for thinking it will not—we are going to see a growth that will surprise us.

Here's a sample. Chicago is going to hold a great international exposition in 1934. And aviation leaders are predicting now that Chicago's hotels will not be overcrowded, no matter how great the throngs that go to see it. Why? Because, they say, aviation will be so far developed by that time that visitors will stop in cities like Detroit, Cleveland, Indianapolis and St. Louis, if they cannot find accommodations in Chicago, and will fly back and forth to the exposition daily.

That sounds almost incredible. Yet it is, obviously, quite within the realm of possibilities. The airplane may yet work as profound a change in our social and economic organization as the automobile has done.

Army officers at Fort Houston are taking a new course in cooking prescribed by the War Department. Is it possible somebody has been opening cans the wrong way?

The Way
of the World

BY GROVE PATTERSON

PAINFUL TIMIDITY

Years and years ago we were told by the old copy book rules that it was better to grasp a nettle firmly or take a bull by the horns than to get in gently and get hurt. And yet it is a lesson that few learn. Our failure in this respect accounts for much misery. Most of us face, now and then, difficult situations. There is only one way out, and that is to go straight through with it. There is something to be said that we do not like to say, or something to be done we do not like to do, but we hang around the edges and remain unhappy. We try to wade in where we ought to jump in.

A LIBERAL IDEA

Three European professors arrive in Chicago to teach during the spring at Chicago university. They come from Leipzig in Germany, from the University of Moscow in Russia, and from Glasgow. We ought to read about this sort of thing often. God forbid that America, cut off by the wide sea from the rest of western civilization, should ever be provincial and narrow and intolerant in its ideas! Let's have Russians, Germans, Englishmen, Frenchmen lecturing in our schools as often as possible.

THE ICE MAN AND THE BABY

If you have a baby girl in your home be sure and invite the ice man to call on her now and then. If there is a bottle to be handed to the baby, let the ice man do it. The idea is that if infants are to lose their fear of strangers and grow up to be comfortable happy children, they must have fear trained out of them early. Dr. John B. Watson, psychologist, says here is where the ice man—perhaps the grocer's boy would do as well—fits in. Giddap.

ANOTHER LAMP LIGHTER

The death of Dr. Alfred Wake-man on shipboard, on his way home from a year's study of yellow fever in Africa, is just one more instance of the martyrdom of earnest men that goes on constantly so the generations to come may live safer, happier lives. There is probably more overwork among scientists than among the rest of us whose work is vastly less important. Curiously enough, most of the complaint comes from those whose work is of the least importance.

Who's Who and Timely ViewsNO REASON FOR ELABORATE
REVISION OF TARIFF
LAW SEEN

By NICHOLAS LONGWORTH
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

Nicholas Longworth was born at Cincinnati, O., Nov. 5, 1869. He is a graduate of Harvard where he also studied law for a year. Admitted to the bar in 1894, he located in Cincinnati. He served as a member of the Ohio house of representatives from 1899 to 1901 and the state senate the two following years. He was elected to congress from the first Ohio district in 1903, and has been returned every term since excepting for the period from 1913 to 1915. He is now serving his third term as speaker of the house.

The preliminary work of the house on tariff revision and farm legislation can be finished within 30 days. With only census and reapportionment legislation to be considered in addition to farm and tariff bills, I see no reason for a prolonged meeting of the special session.

On the subject of tariff, no elaborate revision need be undertaken. In many cases tariff rates should be raised to comport with the American protective policy, which few are left to condemn.

There may also be cases, in which excessive and prohibitory duties should be lowered. My own belief is that the present tariff law is the most successful ever enacted, certainly within the last quarter of a century. It has been protective of practically all of the industries which needed protection, and thereby has broadened and strengthened the home market for the products of those industries. At the same time our exports have very greatly increased, as have the imports of articles needed by the American people and not produced here, to the extent that the revenues received at the customs houses are more than twice as great as those ever derived from any tariff bill in history.

I can see no reason, therefore, why an elaborate revision of our present tariff law ought to be undertaken at this extra session. It has been protective of practically all of the industries which needed protection, and thereby has broadened and strengthened the home market for the products of those industries. At the same time our exports have very greatly increased, as have the imports of articles needed by the American people and not produced here, to the extent that the revenues received at the customs houses are more than twice as great as those ever derived from any tariff bill in history.

How to Achieve Beauty

BY NINA HELENA RUBINSTEIN

The truly lovely arm is slender and rounded, perfectly developed, neither fat nor thin. When extended sideward it shows two distinct, softly tapering lines, one toward the elbow, where the upper arm is slimmest, and again at the wrist, where the arm is narrowest of all and delicately modeled.

The arm of a practiced swimmer shows perfect development usually, long, smooth line of muscle contour that flows into each other gracefully with no sign of bunchiness or the knobby development that comes with some kinds of strenuous arm exercise.

The very best exercise of all, for the too-thin, helpless-looking arm is swimming, and if you suspect your arms of fitting this description, by all means decide to swim often and remedy it. Besides the strength and grace it will bring to your arms, will be the health and improved circulation it will bring to you generally. And swimming is good fun! Indulge in it regularly in water just cool enough to invigorate, but not so cold as to chill, and you will find a keen new joy in life, the joy of increased vitality and power.

But if you are not able to swim, if your living arrangements make it impossible, or there is no convenient pool or outdoor swimming place in your locality, don't think that you must give up the plan of exercise to develop your arms.

There are any number of other ways to use these muscles and to improve your circulation in general—some of them such common ways that you may have overlooked them entirely. Among them the simple, old-fashioned house-wifely tasks such as sweeping and bed making, when scientifically performed.

While the vacuum cleaner is a great labor-saving device, it deprives the modern housekeeper of one of the best kinds of exercise—the sweeping she used to do with her

Behind the Scenes in Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON — Congressman John N. Garner of Texas, new Democratic leader in the house of representatives, is a dashing, cut-and-dash political cavalryman.

Congressman John Q. Tilson of Connecticut, the Republican leader, is a very heavy artilleryman.

Garner loves fighting—fierce, hot forays, hand to hand.

Tilson is ponderous. His first thought is of his main position's perfect safety. Then, too, he is sure, he seeks to advance—but not by rushes. Gradually, if the foe would refrain from pestering him, he would gladly do it without fighting at all. Fighting is not a joy to him, as it is to Garner—just a means to an end.

Garner gallops madly ahead of his rough riders. Tilson calmly directs his forces' operations from G. H. Q. by telephone.

All this is sound strategy on both sides.

Colonel Tilson, being majority leader, has got what he wants. His business is to hang onto it. If he can grab more, all right, but he would be foolish to take chances, in the mere hope of gain—because he has so much to lose.

For Jack Garner's minority, any change whatever is likely to be for ner was a worry to Colonel Tilson occasionally.

Garner was senior Democratic member of the ways and means committee, which is the most important minority post in the lower house of congress—so important that the leader, himself, could not always keep Jack under control. Now and then, in spite of everything, he went on the rampage.

As leader, on his own account, oh, my!

Some right in! Leader Garner is readily accessible. He is mighty busy, and dispatches business rapidly, and for that very reason he is easy to see—because he permits nobody to hem and haw, and waste his time.

The congressman is a smallish figure which fairly squirms with energy.

A shock of iron gray hair—an intense little face—a pair of burning eyes—the air of an individual who wants, so violently, to get into action that he can hardly sit still.

Congressman Garner has personality to burn.

There is not a great deal of him, but what there is, never in any human being more obviously was dynamic.

The Texan is a cheerful little super-scrapper.

What will the minority's policy be under his leadership?

"Oh, constructive, of course."

We grin behind our hand. He looks about as constructive as a machine gun.

Personally, I always thought one of the most constructive things congress could do would be to devote an entire session to nothing but the job of repealing laws—as fast as possible. I suggest this idea to Leader Garner.

"Quite right," he exclaims. "Too many rules and regulations, I wish we could wipe out a third of the statute book."

Then why not?

"We can't. Laws don't work that way."

No hope, then?

"No hope, sometimes we can pass a new law, contradicting an old one. We can't repeal. It's the one thing congress can't do."

That settles it.

If there is anything that that streak of chain lightning admits he, himself, couldn't strike and knock into pit, even in a majority, it can't be knocked into pit at all.

"Come in again," yells the congressman. He's a trifle deaf. Now that we think of it, we notice that we have been yelling, too.

Foundation for the Children's Diet.

Mrs. S.—The structure of the growing teeth depends as much on a sufficient amount of vegetables, especially on green vegetables, and fruits, as it does upon milk. Is your little girl getting her full quota of vegetables and fruits?

I'll give you a foundation diet for children.

Part 1—Protective Foods.
One and one-half pints milk, at least; one full cupful of vegetables (especially the green leaf vegetables), part of them raw; one full cupful of fruit, part fresh, if possible; one to two ounces high protein food (flesh foods, eggs, cheese).

Part 2—Energy Foods.
Cereals, including whole grain breads; rice, potatoes, macaroni and similar foods; simple desserts. Fats in the form of butter, cream, egg yolks and nuts.

You will, of course, give the child other foods besides these, but this foundation will largely take care of his quota of protein, mineral elements, vitamins, and a good share of the energy foods.

We have a list of modern books on the general care and feeding of children which you may have.

Mrs. C.—Your baby's little red nose may be due to his cold. As your doctor has said that they are not so bad but that they can wait until the summer to have them taken out, I wouldn't worry about this.

Mrs. R.—The person who told you that soups are harmful for children, is wrong. The only point to remember is that if the child is undernourished, he should not have a lot of watery soup, because this fills him up and he does not have room for the necessary solid foods. On the other hand, the clear, thin soups can well precede two meals, for the child who is overweight.

Vegetable soups are not a particularly good way to give children their vegetables, because long boiling lessens the vitamins, and the clear vegetable or meat broths do not have much nourishment in them. By adding butter mixed with flour to thickening, and milk and cream and egg yolks, soups can be made very nourishing, and these could be given with great benefit to undernourished children. For overweight child, these could also be given, but they should form the chief part of the meal.

Here are some of the things you will have to face: She will be charged with being a "cradle snatcher," you with marrying an "old woman"; she may think she should be "boss" because she is older, you may make fun of her and accuse her of "being over the hill."

"A DISTRACTED GIRL CUDDLES." — As long as the boy doesn't seem interested in you, I don't see how you can plan matrimony now or later. Cuddles, he may want to go on to college when he finishes school so that would make nearly seven years before he could take a position, and one or two more before he would be ready for marriage. I really do think you had better out him out of your life, or treat him as you would a very young brother. I am afraid his parents would think you were a very scheming young woman if they could read your letter.

"Dear Virginia Lee: As I've been reading the advice you gave others, I want you to please help me. I've gone with a boy for over a year. We are engaged to be married in two years. Lately it times in the life of a goose when it pays to use good common sense—and we geese have sense even if the rest of the world say we haven't. We know we are out of danger here—for the while, at least—and if anything does happen I want to have the family together, not scattered all over the pond.

"Even if all this wasn't so, you have been taught to mind. If you, who came out of the shell first, do not set a good example to your younger brothers and sisters, whom can I depend upon to help me to bring them up in the way they should go?"

"Wonderful mother, that wife of mine remarked Mr. Wild Goose admiringly. 'She'll have no more trouble with Tommy today. He will spend his moments taking care that the rest of the children don't steal out from under cover. She is like that all the time, so wise and gentle. Everybody loves her.'"

"Did the rest of your wives fly out screaming Gander, so shrilly that the boy jumped. 'What was that you asked me?'"

WISE MOTHER WILD GOOSE

"Tommy, you foolish gosling, come right back here this very instant! Don't try to play any tricks like that upon me again. If you don't, I shall catch you at them every time," quacked Tommy's mother.

Tommy maybe a bit ashamed of himself for he hung his head and looked over his shoulder to see if his mother meant it, and when he saw her looking at him so sternly he turned and slowly sailed back to her side, grumbling as he went, and the boy, by listening sharp, heard what he said.

"Want to keep me tied to your tail all the time?" muttered he. "I am a big boy now, and yet you are just as if I had only yesterday cracked my shell. It makes me sick! Why couldn't I take a little swim by myself across the pond and back? You could watch me all the way over. Look! You can plainly see the other side from here. What could possibly happen to me, I'd like to know?"

"Almost anything could happen, and at a moment's notice, Tommy," replied Mrs. Goose. "I do not know what any more than you do, but remember this—there are times in the life of a goose when it pays to use good common sense—and we geese have sense even if the rest of the world say we haven't. We know we are out of danger here—for the while, at least—and if anything does happen I want to have the family together, not scattered all over the pond.

The American League may have its Babe Ruth but the National League has its Rogers Hornsby, its stormy petrel for several years.

The temperamental Rogers is now in a Chicago Cub uniform and just as the Babe is inevitably the center of attention in the junior circuit, so will the interest of fans in general (after the home team has won or lost) focus upon the performance of Hornsby this season.

At present "The Rajah" is batting around .580 if you please and has been the backbone of the Cub attack in the opening games of the season.

Hornsby has been with four clubs in as many years, having left St. Louis after leading the Cardinals to their first pennant and a world's championship in 1926. Next he went to the Giants in 1927 and managed to create considerable excitement and although he became a more obscure figure with the Braves in 1928, he was in there nevertheless leading the league in hitting and generally always making his presence felt.

This season Rogers has cast his lot with a club that is generally favored to win the pennant. There is little doubt that Hornsby will add great offensive power to this Chicago outfit. He has already demonstrated that he is a few games. It only remains to be seen whether he can fit smoothly into a flag-winning combination.

They would, of course, have a certain appeal, but it is extremely doubtful whether the demand for longer championship bouts, stimulated by an offer from Tia Juana of $100,000 to Tommy Loughran for a forty-five-round bout with Mickey Walker, represents a true solution to the present state of affairs in boxing, affairs which may be termed unsatisfactory.

Only three times during his entire career did Jack Dempsey fight in bouts more than ten rounds in length and show us the fan with nerve enough to complain about the former champion falling to the present state of affairs in boxing, affairs which may be termed unsatisfactory.

For reasons best known to himself, Promoter Lou Richards has called off the Mike Dundee-Jimmy Hackley, twelve-round bout scheduled for next Monday night, April 29, in Memorial Hall, Dayton. Lack of interest in the bout in that city, due to the strong possibility of Max Schmeling meeting Joe Seykora there in June or July is said to have caused the local promoter to indefinitely postpone the show.

LEAGUE WILL OPEN
AKRON, O., April 24.—The Central League baseball season opens tomorrow with the following schedule:
Akron at Ft. Wayne, Erie at Springfield, and Canton at Dayton.

BARNEY FRIBERG IS HERO AS PHILLIES DEFEAT M'GRAWMEN

Yesterday's hero — Barney Friberg, second-string shortstop, who tripled with two out and two men on base in the eleventh inning, giving the Philadelphia Phillies a 3 to 1 victory over the New York Giants in the opening game of the season at the Polo Grounds.

Pounding Blake, Carlson and Cvenegros for sixteen hits the St. Louis Cardinals broke the Chicago Cubs' string of four straight victories with a 9 to 6 win. The Cubs made fifteen hits off Sherdell but were unable to bunt them until the late innings.

Davy Bancroft's single in the eleventh scored Flowers with the run which gave the Brooklyn Robins their first victory of the season, over the Boston Braves, 3 to 2. Dazzy Vance held the Braves to six hits.

With Big Ed Morris pitching brilliantly the Boston Red Sox beat the New York Yankees, 4 to 2. Morris allowed but six hits. Three of them by Durocher.

Hits by Goslin, Judge and Hayes enabled the Washington Senators to take an eleven-inning game from the Philadelphia Athletics, 4 to 3. Al Simmons made his first appearance of the season in the Athletics' lineup as a pinch-hitter in the eleventh, drawing a walk.

Lu Blue's two home runs featured the St. Louis Browns 11 to 5 victory over the Detroit Tigers. Gehring and McManus of the Tigers also hit homers.

Earl Averill's triple in the seventh scored two runs and tied the score and the Cleveland Indians beat the Chicago White Sox in the ninth, 5 to 4.

The Reds and Pirates were idle.

CEDARVILLE LOSES TO WILBERFORCE IN LOOP GAME TUESDAY

Scott was in superb form and Wilberforce University smeared Cedarville College's baseball team with a coat of whitewash, blanking the "Yellow Jackets" 9 to 0 in the Cedarville diamond Tuesday afternoon. Wilberforce also beat Cedarville several weeks ago.

Scott, Wilberforce pitcher, limited the Cedarville batters to five hits. Smith made his debut for Cedarville as a pitcher. He had never pitched a game before but Wilberforce although touching him for thirteen hits, made only four earned runs off his delivery.

Other tallies were indirectly and more often directly due to fielding misplays. Smith being accorded ragged support. Score by innings: Wilberforce ... 100 211 103—9 13 2 Cedarville ... 000 000 000—0 5 6 Batteries: Wilberforce—Scott and Redden; Cedarville—Smith and Rutan.

MR. WEATHER MAN—ALL DEPENDS ON YOU

The Weather Man being agreeable, the Reserves and Springfield Bartlett Clothiers will attempt to pry off the lid of the local baseball season in a formal opening game next Sunday afternoon at Washington Park, starting in the vicinity of 2:30 o'clock.

These two teams were billed to usher in the diamond season here last Sunday but the field was washed out and the game was washed up. Consequently the game has been completed for the same two teams to play the matinee next Sunday.

The Reserve management is proceeding cautiously in the matter of booking teams for future dates and desires to bring only the better class of teams here. Other contracts are coming in but have not been signed and the Reserve schedule is not filled for many weeks in advance.

Bowling

The five-man bowling team captained by L. A. Wagner recorded a three-game total of 2,580 Tuesday night in the tournament in progress at the Recreation Parlor. This score did not disturb the leaders. The team started off impressively with 935, then settled back to 788 and shot forward again to 857. Swindler topped the team with a 855 total.

Teams captained by Jesse Anderson and William Moorehead are scheduled to take the alleys Wednesday night. The only other team which has not rolled in the tourney is that captained by Arca Jeffries. Box score:

JAMESTOWN TO OPEN SEASON ON SUNDAY

Jamestown's independent baseball team will open the current diamond season against the Shamrock Athletic Club of Dayton Sunday afternoon at Jamestown. The game will be played at a new park on the Jamestown and Xenia Pike.

Jamestown has retained most of the players who composed the nine last season, but a few new players will be in the lineup. A majority of the games this season will be played at home and the club hopes to experience another successful season.

OLD FAVORITES ARE SETTING PACE IN HITTING WITH MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS

NEW YORK, April 24.—Old favorites are setting the early pace for the major league hitters.

Only one newcomer—Ed Phillips, Detroit catcher—has broken into the charmed circle in the early games. Lu Blue, veteran St. Louis Browns' first baseman, and Charley Jameson, Cleveland outfielder, are tied for the batting lead in the American League along with Phillips. Each has an average of .500.

Three of the five leaders in the National League are veterans who are enjoying hitting sprees in new uniforms. Lefty O'Doul, who was traded to the Phillies last season by the New York Giants, and George Harper, who was shunted to the Boston Braves by the St. Louis Cardinals, are tied for the lead in the National League, each batting at an even .500 clip.

Following Babe Herman, Brooklyn outfielder who holds third place, is Rogers Hornsby, last year's National League batting champion who was sold to the Cubs during the winter by the Braves. Herman is batting .462 and Hornsby .450.

The leading five hitters in each league follow:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

	AB.	R.	H.	Pct.
Blue, St. Louis	19	11	15	.500
Jameson, Cleve.	18	2	9	.500
Phillips, Detroit	12	1	6	.500
Fonseca, Cleve.	26	3	12	.462
Hale, Phila.	19	4	8	.421

NATIONAL LEAGUE

	AB.	R.	H.	Pct.
O'Doul, Phila.	20	6	10	.500
Harper, Boston	16	4	8	.500
Herman, Brooklyn	26	3	12	.462
Hornsby, Chicago	20	6	9	.450
Priddy, St. Louis	27	5	12	.444

O'Doul, who was up for a trial with the Yankees as a pitcher several years back but who is only in his second season as a major league outfielder, is fast making John McGraw sorry he let him go because he couldn't play left field. The lanky Irishman from the far coast clouted a home run — the first of the season — on his first appearance at bat yesterday against the Giants and added a double and a single before the day was done. Fred Leach, the man for whom he was traded, is sitting on the Giants' bench.

For reasons best known to himself, Promoter Lou Richards has called off the Mike Dwyer-Jimmy Hackley, twelve-round bout scheduled for next Monday night, April 29, in Memorial Hall, Dayton. Lack of interest in the bout in that city, due to the strong possibility of Max Schmeling meeting Joe Seyra there in June or July is said to have caused the local promoter to indefinitely postpone the show.

CEDARVILLE LOSES TO WILBERFORCE IN LOOP GAME TUESDAY

Scott was in superb form and Cedarville College's baseball team with a coat of whitewash, blanketing the "Yellow-Jackets" 9 to 0 on the Cedarville diamond Tuesday afternoon. Wilberforce also beat Cedarville several weeks ago.

Scott, Wilberforce pitcher, limited the Cedarville batters to five hits.

Smith made his debut for Cedarville as a pitcher. He had never pitched a game before but Wilberforce although touching him for thirteen hits, made only four earned runs off his delivery. The other tallies were indirectly and more often directly due to fielding misplays. Smith being accorded raged support. MR. WEATHER MAN— ALL DEPENDS ON YOU

The Weather Man being agreeable, the Reserves and Springfield Bartlett Clothiers will attempt to pry off the lid of the local baseball season in a formal opening game next Sunday afternoon at Washington Park, starting in the vicinity of 2:30 o'clock.

These two teams were billed to usher in the diamond season here last Sunday but the field was washed out and consequently arrangements have been completed for the same two teams to play the matinee next Sunday.

The Reserve management is proceeding cautiously in the matter of booking terms for future dates and desires to bring only the better class of teams here. Other contracts are coming in but have not been signed and the Reserve schedule is not filled for many weeks in advance.

The five-man bowling team captained by L. A. Wagner recorded a three-game total of 2,580 Tuesday night in the tournament in progress at the Recreation Parlor. This score did not disturb the leaders. Teams captained by Jesse Anderson and William Moorehead are scheduled to take the alleys Wednesday night. The only other team which has not rolled in the tourney is that captained by Arch Jeffries. Box score:

OLD FAVORITES ARE SETTING PACE IN HITTING WITH MAJOR LEAGUE TEAMS

NEW YORK, April 24.—Old favorites are setting the early pace for the major league hitters. Only one newcomer—Ed Phillips, Detroit catcher—has broken into the charmed circle in the early games. Lu Blue, veteran St. Louis Browns' first baseman, and Charley Jamieson, Cleveland outfielder, are tied for the batting lead in the American League along with Phillips. Each has an average of .500.

Three of the five leaders in the National League are veterans who are enjoying hitting sprees in new

HOME PUPILS ENTER TRAINING CAMPS

Greene County's assigned quota of eighteen accepted applicants for the Citizens' Military Training Camps this summer seems in a fair way to be filled exclusively by pupils of the O. S. and S. O. Home.

Successful applicants from Greene County will be stationed at Fort Thomas, Ky.

Candidates submitting applications from counties that have already filled their quotas will be definitely accepted for the camps provided vacancies exist and they complete vaccination against small pox and immunization against typhoid fever.

But behind what Loreco says are some well selected oil fields—spouting a superior petroleum. Loreco plants are refining a gasoline already rich in a natural supply of some of this "super" without additions.

Plain Loreco gasoline makes a better controlled explosion and does a cleaner job in the cylinder than many fuels.

But we just say "good gasoline."

White? Not these clothes!

THERE was plenty of soap. The clothes were scrubbed thoroughly, and rinsed. But the water was hard. The soap mixed with the hard water, and formed a dirty ring around the basin—scum! The scum got into the fabric of the clothes. That's why the clothes weren't clean.

But they can be clean. How? By washing them in soft water. And how can hard water be made soft? By adding Melo. The water is now a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap; and the soap much more effective. Get a can today at your grocer's.

'OLD GOLD' CHALLENGES AND WINS IN CIGARETTE 'TEST'

Challenging the statement appearing in the columns of The Record of February 26 that Williams men have a distinct preference for cigarettes as proven by the fact that that brand outsells competitors in local shops, the Old Gold company last Friday afternoon conducted one of its famous "concealed name tests" at Williams. As a result, Williams has joined the growing list of colleges and universities which have given Old Gold a plurality in such a contest, for out of the 234 votes cast, the challenging brand received 66 first choices, while two other leading makes could do no more than tie for second place with 59 votes apiece, and a fourth prominent brand received 50 preferences.

To admit no unfairness to the test, each brand of cigarette was denoted by one of five possible numbers, stamped on the black band concealing the name, so that comparison of numbers among those taking the test would have been difficult. The results of the voting, done entirely by number, were checked up by Seely '29, and A. Clark '30, Business Manager and Assistant Business Manager of The Record.

As a result of the try-outs held last Friday...

White? Not
these clothes!

There was plenty of soap. The clothes were scrubbed thoroughly, and rinsed. But the water was hard. The soap mixed with the hard water, and formed a dirty ring around the basin—scum! The scum got into the fabric of the clothes. That's why the clothes weren't clean.

But they can be clean. How? By washing them in soft water. And how can hard water be made soft? By adding Melo. The water is now a wonderful cleaner, with or without soap; and the soap much more effective. Get a can today at your grocer's.
